Session Learning Outcomes

By the end of this session, the student should be able to:

- Students will be able to explain the domain of Right Understanding by comprehending the human being as the knower, experiencer, and doer
- reflect on how the understanding shapes human conduct and decision-making.
- Students develop clarity about the domain of Right Understanding, recognizing the human being as the knower, experiencer, and doer

How to Engage with this Session (The Process)

- Whatever is said is a proposal — do not assume it to be true or false.
- Verify it on your own right, on the basis of your natural acceptance.
- It is a dialogue: first between you and the teacher, then within your own self — between what you are and what you really want to be.

Part A — Key Ideas (Recap)

- What is meant by the experiencer in a human being?: The Self is the experiencer, as it feels emotions like happiness, sadness, or satisfaction.
- Who is considered the knower in the human being?: The Self is the knower, as it perceives and understands reality.

Part B — In-Class Activity

Activity 1: Self-Exploration and Natural Acceptance for Session 1

Analyze the core proposal on the basis of natural acceptance and self-verification.

Core Proposal Aspect	Naturally Acceptable? (Yes/No)	Current Practice (Living with it?)
Students will be able to explain the domain o...	Yes (Naturally Acceptable)	In Progress / Conscious Effort
reflect on how the understanding shapes human...	Yes (Naturally Acceptable)	Self-Observing Regularly

Personal Observation: When verifying Students will be able to explain the domain of Right Underst through my natural acceptance, it leads to internal harmony, clarity of purpose, and unconditional fulfillment.

Living in alignment with this understanding eliminates internal contradictions and fosters mutual happiness in all dimensions of life.

Activity 2: Participation in the Order of Society and Nature

Identify concrete steps to translate understanding into conduct and relationship.

Dimension of Living	Commitment & Action Plan
Thought & Imagination	Ensure desires are guided by natural acceptance rather than pre-conditioning.
Behavior & Relationship	Express feelings of trust, respect, and affection unconditionally in daily interactions.
Work & Production	Engage in mutually enriching work with nature, ensuring conservation and sustainability.

Part C — Long-Answer Questions

Q1. Explain human being as the co-existence of Self and Body.

A human being is the co-existence of Self and Body. The Self is the conscious entity, while the Body is the material entity. The Self is the one that desires, thinks, expects, understands, assumes and wants happiness. The Body is the physical instrument through which the Self performs activities such as eating, walking, speaking and working.

The Body is useful and necessary, but it is not the complete human being. The Self is central to human existence because the desire for continuous happiness exists in the Self. The Body is used by the Self as an instrument for living and participating in the world. Therefore, to understand a human being correctly, we must understand both the Self and the Body separately, and also understand their co-existence.

When we mistake the human being as only the Body, we try to fulfil every need through physical facility. This leads to confusion, accumulation and dissatisfaction. Right understanding begins when we see that the needs of the Self and the needs of the Body are different and must be fulfilled differently.

Q2. What is meant by the experiencer in a human being?

The Self is the experiencer, as it feels emotions like happiness, sadness, or satisfaction.

Q3. Who is considered the knower in the human being?

The Self is the knower, as it perceives and understands reality.
