Session Learning Outcomes

By the end of this session, the student should be able to:

- Students will be able to understand the nature of existence, appreciate its interconnectedness
- recognize the principle of co-existence as the foundation of harmony at all levels
- Students will develop reflective thinking to observe nature/existence, analyze its inherent interconnectedness

How to Engage with this Session (The Process)

- Whatever is said is a proposal — do not assume it to be true or false.
- Verify it on your own right, on the basis of your natural acceptance.
- It is a dialogue: first between you and the teacher, then within your own self — between what you are and what you really want to be.

Part A — Key Ideas (Recap)

- What is co-existence in the context of nature?: Co-existence is the harmony of all units in nature where each supports and sustains the other.
- What does interconnectedness in nature mean?: It means all entities in nature are linked and depend on each other for survival and balance.

Part B — In-Class Activity

Activity 1: Self-Exploration and Natural Acceptance for Session 4

Analyze the core proposal on the basis of natural acceptance and self-verification.

Core Proposal Aspect	Naturally Acceptable? (Yes/No)	Current Practice (Living with it?)
Students will be able to understand the natur...	Yes (Naturally Acceptable)	In Progress / Conscious Effort
recognize the principle of co-existence as th...	Yes (Naturally Acceptable)	Self-Observing Regularly

Personal Observation: When verifying Students will be able to understand the nature of existence, through my natural acceptance, it leads to internal harmony, clarity of purpose, and unconditional fulfillment.

Living in alignment with this understanding eliminates internal contradictions and fosters mutual happiness in all dimensions of life.

Activity 2: Participation in the Order of Society and Nature

Identify concrete steps to translate understanding into conduct and relationship.

Dimension of Living	Commitment & Action Plan
Thought & Imagination	Ensure desires are guided by natural acceptance rather than pre-conditioning.
Behavior & Relationship	Express feelings of trust, respect, and affection unconditionally in daily interactions.
Work & Production	Engage in mutually enriching work with nature, ensuring conservation and sustainability.

Part C — Long-Answer Questions

Q1. Explain the statement: “The Body is an instrument of the Self.”

The Body is an instrument of the Self because the Self uses the Body for behaviour with human beings and work with the rest of nature. The Self is central to human existence, because it is the Self that wants to live with continuous happiness. The Body does not decide its own use; the decision regarding the fulfilment of the Body’s needs and the use of the Body is made by the Self. The Body requires physical facility for nurturing, protection and right utilisation. The transaction between the Self and Body is through information: the Self gives instructions to the Body, and the Body gives sensations to the Self. Therefore, keeping the Body healthy is important, but the purpose of the Body is to act as a useful instrument for the Self to live in harmony at all levels.

Q2. What is co-existence in the context of nature?

Co-existence is the harmony of all units in nature where each supports and sustains the other.

Q3. What does interconnectedness in nature mean?

It means all entities in nature are linked and depend on each other for survival and balance.
