Session Learning Outcomes

By the end of this session, the student should be able to:

- Students will be able to understand and explain the human being as a co-existence of the Self (consciousness) and the Body (material entity)
- recognize their distinct roles in ensuring holistic human existence.
- Students learn to distinguish between the needs, activities, and characteristics of the Self (conscious entity) and the Body (material entity)

How to Engage with this Session (The Process)

- Whatever is said is a proposal — do not assume it to be true or false.
- Verify it on your own right, on the basis of your natural acceptance.
- It is a dialogue: first between you and the teacher, then within your own self — between what you are and what you really want to be.

Part A — Key Ideas (Recap)

- How does the self differ from the body in a human being?: The body is material, physical, and perishable, while the self is conscious, non-physical, and the source of thought, feelings, and experiences. The self observes and uses the body to interact with the world.
- What does it mean to say that a human being is a co-existence of the self and the body?: It means that a human being is not just a physical body but also a conscious self. The body provides the physical existence, while the self provides awareness, intelligence, and identity. Both coexist to make a complete human being.

Part B — In-Class Activity

Activity 1: Self-Exploration and Natural Acceptance for Session 4

Analyze the core proposal on the basis of natural acceptance and self-verification.

Core Proposal Aspect	Naturally Acceptable? (Yes/No)	Current Practice (Living with it?)
Students will be able to understand and expla...	Yes (Naturally Acceptable)	In Progress / Conscious Effort
recognize their distinct roles in ensuring ho...	Yes (Naturally Acceptable)	Self-Observing Regularly

Personal Observation: When verifying Students will be able to understand and explain the human be through my natural acceptance, it leads to internal harmony, clarity of purpose, and unconditional fulfillment.

Living in alignment with this understanding eliminates internal contradictions and fosters mutual happiness in all dimensions of life.

Activity 2: Participation in the Order of Society and Nature

Identify concrete steps to translate understanding into conduct and relationship.

Dimension of Living	Commitment & Action Plan
Thought & Imagination	Ensure desires are guided by natural acceptance rather than pre-conditioning.
Behavior & Relationship	Express feelings of trust, respect, and affection unconditionally in daily interactions.
Work & Production	Engage in mutually enriching work with nature, ensuring conservation and sustainability.

Part C — Long-Answer Questions

Q1. Explain justice in human-to-human relationship.

Justice in relationship means the recognition of relationship, fulfilment of the definite feelings in relationship, and correct evaluation of that fulfilment, leading to mutual happiness. Relationship exists naturally between human beings, but it has to be understood and fulfilled. The definite feelings in relationship include trust, respect, affection, care, guidance, reverence, glory, gratitude and love. When I understand these feelings within myself and express them appropriately to the other, the other is also able to recognise them. This recognition and fulfilment create mutual happiness. Injustice happens when these feelings are missing, wrongly expressed or wrongly evaluated. Therefore, justice is not merely a legal arrangement; it is the living fulfilment of relationship on the basis of right understanding and right feeling.

Q2. How does the self differ from the body in a human being?

The body is material, physical, and perishable, while the self is conscious, non-physical, and the source of thought, feelings, and experiences. The self observes and uses the body to interact with the world.

Q3. What does it mean to say that a human being is a co-existence of the self and the body?

It means that a human being is not just a physical body but also a conscious self. The body provides the physical existence, while the self provides awareness, intelligence, and identity. Both coexist to make a complete human being.
